with Manisha Sinha
The Slave's Cause: A History of Abolition

Tuesday, February 13th, 2018
12:30pm-1:30pm
UCLA Black Forum, Haines Hall 153

Manisha Sinha will discuss her prize-winning book, The Slave's Cause: A History of Abolition (Yale University Press, 2016)

Winner of the Avery O. Craven award in Civil War history from the Organization of American Historians and the Best Book prize for 2016 by the Society of Historians of the Early American Republic, The Slave's Cause tells the story of a movement rooted in slave resistance rather than bourgeois liberalism, committed to interracial and international solidarity and a vision of social justice that extended beyond the task of ending formal chattel slavery.

"A marvelous book long needed! Manisha Sinha's The Slave's Cause: A History of Abolition presents a revolutionary narrative that gives black activism long overdue acknowledgment. At the same time, Sinha erases needless color lines, revealing the comprehensive nature of abolitionism.

—Nell Irvin Painter, author of The History of White People

Manisha Sinha is the Draper Chair in American History at the University of Connecticut.
